THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause Simply taking a laxative and then is just temporary—and often harmful

Most constipation is due to meals low in bulk Just enough bulk in our diet each day can really correct common constipation

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day This cereal furnishes bulk which does not break down in the body ALL-BRAN absorbs moisture in the lower intestine where it gently sponges and cleanses the system

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine You'll like it as the grocery sells it Delicious Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek

Why does it gain more friends every day?

By HALLIE HOLCK

I have written quite purposely to bring smiles not tears to the memory of that great world of little lady and my estimate of her character and of the place she holds in history is truly summed up in those words which I imagine heard men shouting as she passed in her carriage on the day of her Diamond Jubilee. Married Comrades

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary In Fearful as She Watches Noel and Leslie Battle.

AS NOEL VERITZEN struck Jack Leslie across the mouth and the two went into a fight that I knew had possible death in it, I heard a gurgling, choked scream from Mary, one which, however, could not possibly have reached the ears of anyone upon either the Veritzen yacht or the sinister craft which Noel had boarded with the pretended board of money.

I saw the reason for the choked sound in another second. With one powerful arm thrown around the girl's almost fainting figure, Harry Underwood's other hand was clapped over her mouth, smothering off all of her scream, and, incidentally, most of her breath as well.

"Don't you dare to make another sound!" he was saying roughly. "Do you want to be the cause of your husband's death? If those devils ever have dream of daring to near her before that gunboat gets into action, Noel's life isn't worth a tinker's dam. Now you heard it, you can promise to keep quiet and I'll take my hand away from your mouth."

Watch Men Struggle

Mary evidently nodded, for Mr. Underwood released her and gulped, gasping, the tears running down her face, one ran to me and clung to me. But, despite my arm, I could not take her eyes away from those two struggling figures.

I saw the man in charge of the yacht lift his hand, saw a number of men start savagely toward Noel and Jack. Heard a groan from Harry Underwood, and knew instinctively that in another minute the brave young life of Noel Veritzen would be crushed from his body.

And then—never did I hear a more blessed sound—came the crash of a cannon shot and I knew that the gunboat had swung into action, and had put the shot across the bow, which means to those who know that the next shot will rake the deck, leaving dead and wounded in its wake.

That the men on the deck knew the meaning of that message was apparent in an instant. The figures milling toward Noel and Jack, stopped as if the cannon shot had indeed struck them, and backing against the rail, they lifted their hands meekly high above their heads and waited for the next move.

Noel Is Victorious

Only two of all the moving figures disregarded that dread signal. Noel and Jack still struggled on, savagely fighting with every ounce of strength and skill they possessed, paying no more attention to the shot than if it had been the buzzing of a mosquito.

I guessed that Mary was reading a new side to her young husband's character.

It would do her no harm, I told myself, even as I trembled with relief at Noel's narrow escape from the murderous fists of the crew. And then, with a mighty swing, Noel struck Jack Leslie upon the chin, and the man who had been Mary's evil genius slumped to the floor unconscious and bleeding.

"Noel didn't kill him, did he?" Mary breathed terrifically as her young husband leaned back against the mast, evidently exhausted.

"No such luck, Mary," Harry Underwood boomed. "That Leslie varmint will grace a prison cell for a number of years to come, if he doesn't get the chair. And now, girls, get ready to strut your stuff. As soon as the boys from the gunboat board that yacht and take those birds prisoners, we're going across ourselves.

Mary Is Worried

"Well, I'll be eternally humdinged. Look at old Phil Veritzen clambering on board that boat. I didn't think the old lad had the nerve to get into a row, but evidently when they started to gang up on Noel it was just too much for the old boy. Of course, he'd be just about as much use as a fly in a spider web, but at least he made the effort."

Mary had sprung to the railing at his words.

"Oh, hurry!" she pleaded. "I'm so afraid that beast may have hurt Noel, even if Noel did knock him out. See how he leans against the mast, almost as if he were faint or something."

"He's only getting his breath, Mary," Mr. Underwood told her. "It takes a lot of it to put up such a fight as he did just now. Look, he's moving away now to the rail, and hooray! the boys from the gunboat are climbing on board. It's time for us to be moving, or we'll miss the last act."

GOAL ATTAINED

By United Press

ONTARIO, Ind.—When the first settlers arrived here in 1837 they planted corn rake in what is now the public square. Lands, crops and fuel for future general use were their objectives. Almost a century later, the last tree, badly decayed, was cut down and sawed into firewood.

MOTION PICTURES SHOWN FOR CLUB

Forty-five minutes of motion pictures featured yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis club at Hotel Marion. The pictures were based on three subjects, "Industrial Ohio," which depicted scenes from many of the state's leading manufacturing concerns including the Marion Steam Shovel Co. The other subjects were, "Ohio from the Air," and "Northern Trout Fishing," the latter being edited by Grantland Rice.

Forty-five members of the club attended the luncheon. The pictures were furnished through the cooperation of the Marion division of the Standard Oil Co., and arrangements for showing them were made by J. P. Sharkey, a Kiwanian, and Marion division manager of the company. J. J. Harbert, president of the club, was in charge at the meeting.

Weighing less than one-third as much as conventional wireless types, new telescoping poles for radio, light and telephone lines are made of lightweight steel. Fifteen of the poles are made in standard sections of varying diameter which can be joined together to form shafts of any desired height.

Although not a carpenter by trade Referee V I Wagner wielded a hammer with the skill of a cabinet maker when a nail showed up through the ring mat during last night bouts Calling for the hammer at the end of a round when the protruding nail was first noticed Wagner carefully guarded the danger spot through an entire round until the hammer arrived from the dressing room

Announcer Russ Wilhelm is to be complimented on the efficient and clear manner in which he handles his task In the two nights of fighting Wilhelm has yet to miscall a fighters name or switch the names of the participants which is easily done He employed an unusual amount of gusto in presenting the Columbus participants but even Russ booming voice failed to register with the boys from the Ohio School for the Deaf all of whom took an extra nod to tell them to take their bow

Bishop Mentor Finds Loophole in Fine Plan

By FRITZ HOWELL

DELAWARE O April 9—Coach Ray Dietrick who piloted Ohio Wesleyan's baseball team to halt the Buckeye conference championship a year ago has decided that his players must pay with hard cash for any mistakes they make this year

The Battling Bishop mentor has laid down these fines and is enforcing them

For striking out (swinging) five cents

For striking out (on called third strike) 10 cents

For being caught off base 25 cents

The system Dietrick thought out ate everything until he sent one of the players to the plate against West Virginia university with orders to sacrifice

Instead of laying down a neat bunt advancing the runner to second the batter popped a short fly to the pitcher and a double play resulted

Dietrick countered by plastering a 10-cent fine on the batter

At the end of the season Dietrick plans to use the accumulated fund to throw a dinner for the boys

• • •

Last year Dietrick had a youth from Cleveland Roger Lockwood who played a lot of center field for the Bishops Roger Detrick said is ready for a minor league berth right now as a junior but he has a sophomore brother playing third base for Wesleyan who is stealing part of the spotlight

Malcolm Lockwood the younger brother played his first inter collegiate baseball a few days ago as Wesleyan tangled with Virginia in a pair of contests The Bishops won the games 11 to 8 and 12 to 9 but that isn't the story

Malcolm as leadoff man for the Bishops was the first batter in the opening game The West Virginia hurler wound up and shot his hard one at the plate Lockwood swung the ball soared between the center and right fielders and Malcolm slid home in a cloud of dust with a home run on the first ball ever pitched to him in a college tilt

BOARD OF EDUCATION FLATLY REFUSES TO CONSIDER N.C.O. PLAN

Scholastic League Question at Standstill Harding Officials Uncertain About Plans

The question of night football in the North Central Ohio scholastic league of which Harding High [illegible] a member remained at a standstill today following recent action by the Mansfield board of education reaffirming its opposition to night games

Harding High school athletic officials said they have not decided [illegible] they will follow with [illegible] on Mansfield action and [illegible] no request has been made for [illegible] of the board's action

Newspaper reports from Mansfield stated the board of education flatly refused to accept the proposal of night football for Mansfield high as sought by officials of the league

Supt W L Miller said the board joined forced in opposition to the night game proposal Supt Miller said he felt there is too much danger involved in night football for a school to assume responsibility for it and said in addition the expense of lighting equipment should not in his opinion be assumed until indebtedness on the Mansfield stadium was lifted

D John H Bricker clerk of the board was quoted as saying night football for Mansfield is definitely [illegible] but not only for next fall but permanently so far as the board is concerned

The league action favoring night football to which Supt Miller referred in his comments on the proposal is a ruling adopted at the last meeting of the league giving the home team the privilege of setting the time for games The ruling was adopted with approval of all league members excepting Mansfield which did not vote

Harding and other schools in the league having lighted gridirons previously had indicated their desire to have games played on their fields at night

In a recent discussion of the question at Mansfield it was indicated that school might withdraw from the league if the other members insisted on night contests

Harding Bucyrus Ashland and Shelby now have lighted fields and Galion and Mt Vernon which with Mansfield do not have lights are reported to be considering installing them before the next season opens

SOME ONE SAID
GOOD used cars have to be sold at higher prices because dealers in GOOD used cars ... have to spend a lot of money to put their cars in such good condition BUT—
HE WAS WRONG!
GOOD used cars do NOT have to be sold for higher prices than poor cars for several reasons
FIRST GOOD used cars sell faster
SECOND — GOOD used cars make many friends for us who send us other customers
THIRD — GOOD used cars CAN be conditioned in a first class service station like Lautenslakers a no more cost than poor work in other hope
SO WE TELL YOU OLDSMOBILE
"Safety-Tested"
REALLY
COST LESS
YOU can PROVE that for yourself by coming to our USED CAR LOT on Sales ...
